CA1M Chapter Director

Sometimes Life gets in the way Who's who, and who's doing what?

Hello Chapter M, Apparently there has been some confusion as to who is doing what, and who to ask questions when you have concerns. When I decided to takeover the helm as Chapter director I really had some big shoes to fill. I also want to thank Steve Damico for still being there for me when I need him. So just know you're in good hands no matter what. Knowing that my life would be changing and things would be coming up, I still wanted to be your chapter director, but I had decided that I needed help to do so. Steve Bodden stepped up to be my Co-Director. The purpose was so that if I were gone there would be someone to take the reins if I wasn't available. Being that life is crazy for everyone we decided two directors would be better than one. It's something new we wanted to try. We didn't mean to confuse anyone and as with any new change it takes a little bit to get the kinks worked out. But in the long run I think it will be a great advantage to Chapter M. Two minds are always better than one! Trent is another great addition to my staff as he has been there done that before. Trent was one of Chapter M's first CD's long ago. Trent and Denise bring a lot of talent and know how. I really appreciate Trent's dedication to the Herd and he too wants to do the best for the Herd. Hopefully in the coming months you will too be happy with the direction of the HERD. We always invite those of you who want to help to please do so. We are always looking for future CD's and Assistant CD's. The rewards are seeing the satisfaction of the Herd family members and making long lasting fun memories. I hope that you will all continue to rally with us and help support us on our new journey!

Never ending Plane ride home

I want to say Thank You to all the Chapter M members for being so supportive of my Kids and I. I'm happy to say that I have finished the first half of the program that I signed up for at Duke University in North Carolina. I am taking the Integrative Health program for Wellness Coaching to support myself and my children. I am looking forward to becoming a Certified Wellness Coach. But due to technical difficulties with my plane ride home and it being delayed another day I missed our last meeting! I was so disappointed, I had really wanted to go on the after meeting ride, I heard that it was AWESOME! Wednesday nights ride that John Soma led. IT too was a great ride that night. Perfect weather to say the least and all had a great time. John played a few games; one of the games was "who has gas"? which ended up being Barbara Lindsey! She won a $25.00 gas card. We also played quarters and I was the proud winner of the quarters that night.

The following Saturday Beckie and Steve Bodden lead 9 of us to Chapter CA1C in Palm Springs for there chapter meeting. We stole the mascot and I won the 50/50 which was a pot of $55.00! After the meeting we headed up the back side of Idyllwild which turned out to be a most gorgeous ride. Perfect temperatures! 75 on the top of the mountain. Hardly any tourists, it made for a great ride. Then we headed over to Oak Glen for the finishing of our ride. We had lunch in Yucaipa, and we now have a new place for a Wednesday evening pie ride!

Aubrie's Baptism

The Beach that Aubrie will be baptized at will be this very beach in the same spot that she and her daddy are seen on her together! It has a very special place in her heart and always will.

I will not be able to attend our May meeting due to my daughter Aubrie is going to be baptized. She will be baptized in the ocean up by Santa Cruz on her school beach. I am so excited and happy for her. This last year and half has been extremely hard year for her missing her daddy. She was a true daddy's girl. She says she wants to see her daddy again someday in Heaven and plans on seeing him again someday. I am so proud of her and her decision to be baptized in front of her family and friends. I could not miss this special event and as many of you know you hear me say it all the time to take time for your family. Family comes first, so I hope that you all will understand and celebrate with me Aubrie's baptism. God is good all the time!!

RELAY FOR LIFE - I need your help

Please don't forget to support the "Relay for Life" this is the cancer fundraiser that the Kids and I are taking part in to help raise money for the fight against cancer; any amount that you can give is much appreciated!! At our last Relay for Life meeting we all gave testimony as to why we walk. It was very touching to say the least, especially when I heard my kids give there's. I was quickly reminded as to how important it is to help fight the fight. You may not have a loved one who has fought the fight and let's hope you never do. But let's try to make it possible in the future to not have to deal with cancer. I really need your help due to hardly receiving any donations this year. Our portion is way down. I do it in honor of Val, Val's cousin Chuck, uncle Terry, and chucks soon to be daughter in law whom is only 21 and has undergone 22 radiation treatments, and 23 chemo treatments, stem cell replacement and is still fighting to win the battle, and the kids do it for their daddy. You are also invited to walk with us and be a part of our team! A day with the Tait family is one you will not forget soon. Imagine a crowd like Val. It's none stop fun and laughs, but they all come together to help each-other. Val was the oldest of the cousins and many times was in charge of watching them as kids. So you can imagine the fun they had. I too encountered many of those fun times because Larry and I were dating during that time as well. So come be part of our family and hear some old stories and join in the fight against cancer. The event has many things going on thru out the day Saturday. Saturday night is a very touching ceremony, one for those we have lost like Val, with a slide show and memory walk with lighted luminary bags, and also honoring those fighting to kick cancers butt to survive. You're all invited to attend these ceremonies as well. If you do come, visit please be sure to wear your cow hat as that is part of team's honor of Val. The theme for us is Hollywood Movie Tombstone. I hope to see you there. I have a post on Facebook for donations and you can also give them to me directly. Personal Business donations can also get tax right offs and are honored with flags at different levels as sponsors if your interested. We sure could use your help this year as we are way down on our donations this year. Thanks again to all my Herd family I couldn't do it without you!!

Visiting

The weather has changed now what? Why not plan to visit a chapter, either far away or perhaps that chapter you know is just around the corner. When was the last time you got to share some time with other GWRRA MEMBERS?

Well now is the time to get out and ride those roads and find some interesting sights and routes. You know your area like the back of your hand, yet feel somewhat lost without your GPS when riding in a new area. Why not take advantage of our family and friends and take that challenge to find new roads, new sights, and new adventures that are only a tank or two of fuel away. Remember when you first started riding motorcycles, before GPS was everywhere, and how much fun you had just exploring a road, finding some hidden restaurant, waterfall, or historic place and had it all to yourself? Well then take advantage of every opportunity to visit those chapters near and far, share their part of the country, their stories and their insight to their great riding areas. You will be surprised at the number of areas that are within reach of just a few miles of them. You will meet some very interesting people and hear some interesting stories. Chapter M made a visit to CA-1C and during it all had a deep discussion about the 2 party system vs. parliamentary system of government. Also some discussion on snow birds and their ability to hold a chapter staff position. Those of you who were unable to attend this ride, beware now hahahaha, being a snow bird has its advantages but alas it has been discovered your still able to help your various chapters out. By visiting you will also be able to help support those chapters continue to thrive and grow. Stretch those WINGS and FLY around this fantastic state of ours and your reward will be much more that you could ever imagine. We are all Family and Friends and all are members of each and every Chapter of GWRRA near and far.

All The Gear All The Time

Trouble Can Be Only a Click Away

Part 2 of 2

Last month, we devoted this column to the pitfalls of the cliques that naturally evolve in every chapter and what can be done about them. This month, we will look at some of the perils of on-line social media. The use of Facebook, Twitter, Instagram, and all of the other popular social media sites allow us to stay connected with everyone 24 hours a day, 365 days a year. At last year's California District Rally Princess and I had the honor of installing our new National Directors and Deputy Directors. While we were still on stage and in the middle of the ceremony, my phone started blowing up with posts and pictures of the ceremony that members in the audience were posting in real time. This sort of immediate feedback often substitutes for understanding in today's electronically connected world. If I post that I am sad, someone will post back something to try and cheer me up. If I post of some personal success, people will post congratulations. If I post that I am upset about something, my friends will post support and agreement in my perceived wrong; after all, what kind of friend doesn't support another friend? Therein lies the first peril of social media: it's impossible to gain any full understanding of a situation in 140 characters or less. The superficial responses we receive to our postings only serve as validation of our feelings rather than an understanding of what the issues truly are and as many of my hundreds of Facebook "friends" agree with my interpretation of a situation, my opinion quickly becomes "fact" (at least it does in my mind).

The beauty of social media is that people can instantly reach an incredible number of other like-minded individuals. The down side is that once your posting goes up on Facebook or out on Twitter or Instagram, it is out there forever; not even deleting your post will take it off of the internet. Even if you have a "private" Facebook page, you have no control over where or how those pictures words get reposted and if your account is not "private", it is akin to leaving a newspaper on a park bench and hoping that only your friends will come by and read it. Many people have had to deal with the harsh consequences of being held accountable for what they have posted in haste and a simple apology doesn't always suffice. Remember, there is never an expectation of privacy once you have posted it anywhere on the internet.

The third concern about social media is that it doesn't always match what people expect. If a couple in your chapter asked you to join them on a ride this Saturday, but you had already made plans to go on a ride with another couple and, for whatever reason, did not feel like extending the offer to the second couple to join you, one might offer the excuse of, "Thank you, but we already have plans" and let it go at that. Imagine how the second couple will feel when they see the pictures of the four of you posted on the internet smiling and, obviously, having a good time without them. Your intent may never have been to hurt their feelings, but how do you think they will feel?

So how do we use social media for good instead of evil? Simple, use social media for what it was originally designed for: sharing pertinent information with people that need to know. Ask yourself if anyone other than yourself truly cares that you just picked up your grandchildren from pre-school or wants to see a picture of the Big Mac you are having for lunch (if there is any doubt in your mind—the answer is a resounding NO). If tonight's dinner ride has been canceled or the meeting place changed, then by all means let your fellow chapter members know every which way you can. In other words, if people are going to be harmed by not knowing the information, then you need to post it on the internet. If it is anything other than that, you run the risk of destroying yet one more piece of your personal life. Make life more difficult for the NSA and think twice about what you post on-line.

Until next month, ride well and ride often.

Vincent and Pamela Puterbaugh

DOWN THE ROAD

May 2014
Rich & John

What a great turnout we had for the after meeting ride in April. There were 3 groups of riders. We haven't had that kind of a turnout for some time. Thanks to Otis for leading and taking us on a couple of roads that Sue and I haven't been on. Now that the weather is nicer we hope more riders will participate on planned rides.

We have quite a few chapter rallies coming up as well as our Wednesday dinner rides. Remember, that if you don't feel up to riding your motorcycle, just come in the car. It's important to support our fellow chapters and a chance to visit old friends and make new ones. John and I are always looking for new restaurants for our Wednesday dinner rides, so let us know if you have one in mind. All we ask is that they will take separate checks.

It looks like everyone wants to leave at different times for the Region Rally in St. George, Utah on Memorial weekend and just meet up there. So get some of your feiends together and plan your ride with them. Some want to leave on Thursday and some on Friday. You can print the Region Schedule by typing this path; <http://gwrra-regionf.org/sites/default/files/St%20George%20Schedule%20Spreadsheets%202014-04-09%20-%20pp%201-7.pdf> or just go to the Region web site. John is leading two ice cream rides, one this month on the 27th and one in May on the 25th.

Keep riding.

RIDER ED 'GIMME 5'

Age Does Matter !

At a recent GWRRA trailering course, before allowing the members to use the course, the instructors had everyone attending check their motorcycles, trailers and helmets for safety. One of the things they checked for was that the helmets should not be over 7 years old. It was quite a surprise to a member when he found out that the new helmet he had purchased only a month before on sale was actually over 7 years old and no longer suitable for use. The helmet has since been returned to the dealer who sold it.

All DOT approved helmets must include a date of manufacture on them. It might be a label on the chin strap or you might have to carefully peel back the cloth liner of the helmet and look for a label or a date stamp on the styrofoam.

The industry recommendation is that a helmet should be replaced after a maximum of 5 years of use or after 7 years from the date of manufacture – which ever occurs first. Even an old helmet that appears to be brand new may have deterioration, due to many factors, that can affect it's ability to properly protect you in the event of an accident.

Patrick Houlihan, a representative from Shoei Helmets (Tustin, CA) had this explanation; "A helmet should be replaced 5 years from date of purchase or 7 years from date of manufacture, whichever comes first. This replacement recommendation is based on a consensus by both the helmet manufacturers and safety standards. Glues, resins and other materials used in helmet production can affect liner materials. Hair oils, body fluids and cosmetics, as well as normal "wear and tear" all contribute to helmet degradation. Petroleum based products present in; cleaners, paints, fuels and other commonly encountered materials may also degrade materials used in many helmets possibly degrading performance. Additionally, experience indicates there will be a noticeable improvement in the protective characteristic of helmets over a five-year period due to advances in materials, designs, production methods and the standards. Thus, the recommendation for five-year helmet replacement is a judgment call stemming from a prudent safety philosophy."

Gordon Murphy, GWRRA National Director - Rider Education – Canada had this to say ; “The Canada Safety Council in Canada and the Motorcycle Safety Foundation in the US (I have been a CSC Senior Instructor for 7 years) teaches that helmets should be replaced between 5 and 7 years, depending on whether or not the helmet has been dropped or not. The experts tell us that the foam breaks down after that period, due to the natural oils in our head, sunlight and the normal aging process. While there may not be any visible sign to the naked eyes, that doesn't change this process. Therefore, the helmet will have lost its optimum protective qualities and leave the person vulnerable in the event of an impact with the pavement or other surface..... My strong advice for anyone is that they always check the date on a helmet before they purchase it. Even if it was never worn, the foam naturally breaks down, becomes more brittle and less absorbent during the space of 5 to 7 years.”

Before you head out for your next ride please take a minute to check the manufacture date on your helmet. Is it within the recommended date ranges ? The next time you are out shopping for a new helmet, especially at shows and sales, check the manufacture date before you buy it.

On a similar note tires are another critical part of our motorcycle for which age does matter. Even a new tire purchased at a dealership can be several years old rather than a fresh new one and that age can affect it's safe performance and life. Check the date of the tire before you buy it to make sure you are getting a fresh one!

You can determine the date of manufacturer as follows; “The manufacture date is in a code printed on the sidewall. It will be the last four digits (for tires made in the year 2000 or later) in a string of letters and numbers starting with DOT. The first two digits are the week of manufacture, and the last two digits are the year of manufacture. For example, if it says DOT817AD472200, look at the last four digits. 2200 means that your tire was made in the 22nd week of the year 2000. Tires manufactured prior to the year 2000 will have a three-digit code. For example, DOT733AC297, means (looking at the last 3 digits 297) that your tire was made the 29th week of 1997.”
